Author's contribution (responsibilities/roles played in the article)

The author's contribution should be placed using the CASRAI CRediT taxonomy (Contributor Roles Taxonomy), available at the link. The author should select the roles he/she considers relevant, not being mandatory that all roles are included. Individual contributors can be assigned multiple roles, and a given role can be assigned to several contributors. Where multiple people perform the same role, the degree of contribution can optionally be specified as “primary”, “equal” or “supporting”. The 14 contributor roles, according to the CRediT taxonomy, are described below:

- Conceptualization: ideas; formulation or evolution of the overall research objectives and goals.
- Data curation: management activities to annotate (produce metadata), clean data, and maintain research data (including software code, when necessary to interpret the data itself) for initial use and subsequent reuse.
- Formal analysis: application of statistical, mathematical, computational or other formal techniques to analyze or synthesize study data.
- Acquisition of funds: acquisition of financial support for the project leading to this publication.
- Research: conducting an investigation and research process, specifically performing experiments, or collecting data/evidence.
- Methodology: development or design of the methodology; creation of models.
- Project administration: management responsibility and coordination of the planning and execution of the research activity.
- Resources: supply of study materials, reagents, materials, patients, laboratory samples, animals, instrumentation, computer resources or other analytical tools.
- Software: programming, software development; software design; implementation of computer code and supporting algorithms; testing of existing code components.
- Supervision: supervisory and leadership responsibility in the planning and execution of research activities, including mentoring external to the core team.
- Validation: verification, either as part of the activity or separately, of the overall replicability/reproducibility of the results/experiments and other research outputs.
- Visualization: preparation, creation and/or presentation of published work, specifically the visualization/presentation of data.

- Writing - original draft: preparation, creation and/or presentation of the published work, specifically the writing of the initial draft (including substantive translation).
- Writing - reviewing and editing: preparation, creation and/or presentation of the published work by members of the original research group, specifically critical review, commentary or revision - including pre- or post-publication stages.

It is declared that:

1. The article is authorized to enter the editorial process of the journal Boletín de Coyuntura and, during this time, will not be sent for publication to another journal or other physical or electronic publication instrument. In addition, it is guaranteed that the manuscript has not been submitted, nor is it in the process of revision in another journal or other publication medium.
2. The author has approved the final version of the manuscript submitted to Boletín de Coyuntura.
3. The content of the article sent to the Boletín de Coyuntura is the full responsibility of the author and attests that the work is original and unpublished, that it does not contain parts of other authors or fragments of previously published works. They also confirm the veracity of the data, i.e., that the empirical data have not been altered to verify hypotheses.
4. We are committed to accept and carry out the corrections and suggestions of the editorial staff in order to publish your material in the Boletín de Coyuntura. In case of disagreement with any observation, please send the respective justification.
5. In case of acceptance for publication of the article in the Boletín de Coyuntura, the Technical University of Ambato will retain the patrimonial rights of communication and distribution of the text and visual material of the same (copyright), and favors and allows the reuse of this, provided that: i) the authorship and original source of publication is cited, ii) it is not used for commercial or onerous purposes. The intellectual property of the published articles belongs to their authors.
6. It is guaranteed that only the persons appearing as authors have contributed intellectually to the development of the work and are the owners of it.
7. The commitment is made to acknowledge publication credits to this journal when making subsequent use of the published material in any form.
8. It is known that the article may be accepted or rejected for publication.
